HOW IT WORKS

The style quiz

We want to make sure we send you only pieces you'll love. That's why we start with a style quiz to help you define your aesthetic. The quiz has a few sections:

Aesthetic preferences

We'll ask you what you think of some outfits and style elements, then generate a style profile that will guide how we curate your pieces:

EXAMPLE STYLE PROFILE

Your key aesthetic is modern feminine.

You appreciate flowing fabrics and soft details, but you're not afraid to mix in a clean line or a [vegan] leather jacket.

You gravitate towards these palettes:

You also enjoy:

- Classic prints, such as polka dots or florals
- Perfectly paired accessories
- Unique scarves for warm and cool weather

Your second-closest style is chic sophisticate, so why not try mixing in a bolder heel or tailored blazer?

Full list of system colors on CSS Color Editor's Draft

aka.ms/
system-colors-draft

§ 6.2. CSS System Colors

In addition to being able to assign color keyword values to text, backgrounds, etc., CSS defines a set of '`<system-color>`' values, to allow authors to specify colors in a manner that integrate them into the user's graphic environment.

`<system-color>`s incur some privacy and security risk, as detailed in § 17 Security and Privacy Considerations.

For systems that do not have a corresponding value, the specified value should be mapped to the nearest system color value, or to a default color. Note that some profiles of CSS may not support System Colors at all.

The following lists the additional values for color-related CSS values and their general meaning. Any color property can take one of the following names. These names are case-insensitive and shown here with mixed capitalization for legibility.

<code>'ActiveText'</code>	Text in active links.
<code>'ButtonFace'</code>	The face background color for push buttons.
<code>'ButtonText'</code>	Text on push buttons.
<code>'Canvas'</code>	Background of application content or documents.
<code>'Field'</code>	Background of input fields.
<code>'FieldText'</code>	Text in input fields.
<code>'GrayText'</code>	Grayed (disabled) text. This color is set to #000 if the current display driver does not support a solid gray color.
<code>'Highlight'</code>	Background of item(s) selected in a control.
<code>'HighlightText'</code>	Text of item(s) selected in a control.
<code>'LinkText'</code>	Text in non-active, non-visited links.
<code>'Text'</code>	Text in application content or documents.
<code>'VisitedText'</code>	Text in visited links.

Earlier versions of CSS defined additional `<system-color>`s, which have since been deprecated. These are documented in Appendix A: Deprecated CSS System Colors.

Optimize for dark / light forced colors

@media (forced-colors: active)
